ABOUT ME

I'm Adriana Rodríguez-Villa, a fourth-year Architecture student at CEU San Pablo University in Madrid. I hold a RIBA Part 1 qualification from The Bartlett School of Architecture (UCL) and am currently pursuing a triple qualification that includes RIBA Part 2, NAAB accreditation, and the official Architecture degree in Spain.

I consider myself a hardworking, responsible, and determined individual with a strong interest in teamwork and continuous learning. Within architecture, I am particularly interested in rehabilitation and adaptive intervention projects in all their forms, ranging from repair and restoration to functional and energy-performance upgrades, as well as other strategies.

Beyond architecture, I am passionate about other artistic disciplines that enrich my creative process. From an early age, I have pursued training in the performing arts and music; among other achievements, I obtained Grade 5 Ballet certification from the Royal Academy of Dance.

I aspire to join a practice where I can continue to grow professionally while contributing to projects that have a positive impact on people and the built environment, bringing enthusiasm, commitment, and a collaborative mindset.
